Proceeds to benefit
Children with Autism

Face Autism, Inc.

Autism is a brain development disorder typically characterized by impaired social interaction and communication, as well as obsessive or repetitive behavior. Causes of autism are not clearly defined and, sadly, there is no known cure. Autism is treatable and once diagnosed, it is crucial for a child with autism to obtain effective services, treatments, education and intervention.

Face Autism, Inc., was created to provide funding for therapeutic services, bio-medical treatment, scholarships and other necessary resources for children with autism. As a not for profit organization, Face Autism, Inc., is committed solely to providing these services to families through community outreach and fundraising efforts. Face Autism, Inc. is committed to providing the funding to the families for therapy services regardless of their financial ability to pay. Our goal is to give these children the opportunity to significantly improve and maintain a balanced quality of life.
